

QMS
Associates

Sterilization Processes for Medical Devices

Code: MIC2
Type: Seminar
Time: 8 Hours

Objective:

Participants will be able to recognize the most used medical device sterilization methods, their basic principles, applications, advantages and disadvantages.

Audience:

- Professionals, technicians and analysts who require a basic knowledge of sterilization processes for medical devices.

Contents:

- General concepts about sterilization
- Radiation sterilization: Gamma, E-beam
- Basic requirements of ISO 11137
- EO sterilization
- Basic requirements of ISO 11135
- Moist heat sterilization
- Basic requirements of ISO 17665
- Sterilization using dry heat
- Basic requirements of ISO 20857

Mode:

- Face-to-face or virtual

Methodology:

- The seminar is a combination of keynote presentations and individual and group exercises. Participants will learn the relevant terms and definitions for each topic.

Equipment and materials:

- No special equipment or materials are required.

For more details, contact us:

Tel. (506) 7075-2572
info@qmscr.com
www.qmscr.com

Follow us

